DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "knee-ankle-foot orthosis" must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains claim language.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

> The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 9, the phrases "for example", “for instance”, “more or less”, and “optional” renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitation(s) following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
>
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Johnson et al. (US Patent 6,203,511). Johnson discloses a knee orthotic (104) comprising a first and second rods (58, 36) wherein each of the rods have cuffs/rings (106, 38) to optionally secure to limbs, a hinge (10) to couple the rods (58, 36), and a pivot axis in the direction of the knee joint and a pivot axis perpendicular to the knee joint (figs. 2-3). The hinge (10) comprises and upper and lower hinge that move in perpendicular directions (figs. 2-3). The hinge (10) can be flexed at any degree between 20 and 120 degrees. The bounding means (54) and the stop means (22) on the lower hinge limit how far the hinge may flex. The cuffs (106, 38) are made of leather (col. 6, line 66), which is inherently flexible and strong.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Johnson et al. (US Patent 6,203,511). Johnson substantially discloses the claimed invention; see rejection to claim 9 above. Johnson fails to disclose a knee-ankle-foot orthosis. However, Johnson discloses an ankle orthotic (112). Therefore, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the knee orthotic with the ankle orthotic, as taught by Johnson, because it would provide knee and ankle to a person who may have an injury to both joints.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Win (US Patent 7,192,408), Rossi et al. (US Patent 7,087,031), Rossi et al. (US Patent 6,494,863), Tyrrell (US Patent 6,254,559), Rossi et al. (US Patent 6,361,513), Coligado (US Patent Application Publication 2003/0229301), Ostrom et al. (US Patent 6,488,644), Towsley (US Patent 6036,665), Bloedau et al. (US Patent 5,860,943), Pringle (US Patent 5,792,087), Coligado (US Patent 6,654,144).
